There's a star on the horizon, do you see it over there?

Shining ever brightly, for everyone to share.

A sign of hope and freedom, in a deeply troubled world.

A gift from the almighty, like a bright shining pearl.

a star on the horizon, the time has come at last.

To overcome the status quo, and mistakes of the past.

To take us to prosperity, with love and humility.

America will be great again, the way it used to be.

A star on the horizon, getting brighter every day.

With true determination, to find a better way.

A voice of freedom pure and sweet, that's music to the ear.

With love and understanding, for everyone to hear.

A star on the horizon, and now the time is here.

The reason for the brightness, is very very clear.

To abound with truth and honesty, with courage and with pride.

As long as we're United, our country will survive.

A Star On The Horizon,will shine for ever more.

Then America will be, just like it was before.

A land of milk and honey, and opportunity.

America, America, God Shed, His grace, on Thee .
