

ETERNAL LIFE

I watched as they tried so hard to revive.

But my body lay still and my spirit was alive.

An absolutely beautiful sight I could see, the sky opened up and was shown unto me, in life I was blind now a city I could see.

The streets were all paved with gold and I saw, inlaid with diamonds and emeralds and all.

The buildings were made like old Bethlehem, and all were layered with magnificent gems.

The light was so bright that I shaded my eyes.

It shined all about with no sun in the sky.

At the end of the street was a structure divine. I knew when I saw it was older than time.

It had four marble pillars of silver and gold.

The steps that led up were as black as fine coal.

Music was played by a Heavenly Host, singing praise to Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

Then I heard a voice say come unto me.

At the top of the steps was a mighty throne, where there sat three figures but yet were as one. I walked up the steps and fell at his feet.

I tried to look up but could only weep.

Are you worthy of Heaven to me He ask?

No said I but you have forgiven my past.

So be it said He, now be on your way.

Discover the beauty of heaven this day.

Enjoy the reunion that's waiting so long.

Then all of the Angels began a new song.

and I heard the music as they started to play.

And I spread my wings and I flew away.
