I will always love you, a phrase that lovers use, to tell the other just the way they feel.
But that just ain't enough, for what I'm telling you, to let you know my love is real.
Always is just a word, letters of the alphabet, spoken but it isn't absolute.
But I'll tell you darling, on this you can bet, when always ends I'll still be loving you.

Chorus

When always ends I'll still be loving you, I'll give to you a love that's real and true.
It will be the greatest love you ever knew, when always ends I'll still be loving you.

Forever and a day, I've also heard them say, over and over time and time again.
But when forever is all gone, and time moves along, you know that day will end.
When forever ends and there's one more day, here's what I'll do for you.
Don't hold your head in sorrow, I'll make a new tomorrow, when forever ends I'll still be loving you.

Chorus

When forever ends I'll still be loving you, I'll give to you a love that's real and true.
It will be the greatest love you ever knew; when forever ends I'll still be loving you.

Now they talk about eternity, they say it has no end, it seems that's the place for you and I.

Where we can be together and we can live forever and never have a reason there to cry.

Now they talk about eternity, they say it has no end, it seems that's the place for you and I.

Where we can be together and we will live forever and never have a reason there to cry.
