

When I Grow Up
Written By Alvin Kessinger
12/29/2012
Copy-write Registered
BMI

When I grow up I wanna be, a famous movie star.
I wanna have a great big house, and drive a fancy car.
I'll give to you my autograph, no matter who you are.
When I grow up I wanna be, a famous movie star.

When I grow up I wanna be, a singer, in a band.
I wanna travel here and there, and meet all of my fans.
And I'll gladly give my autograph, to everyone I can.
When I grow up I wanna be, a singer in a band.

When I grow up I wanna be, a lovely beauty queen.
I'll wonder if its really real, or is it just a dream.
And for my special talent, I'll let them hear me sing.
When I grow up I wanna be, a lovely beauty queen.

When I grow up I wanna be, a lady President.
I'll live there in the White House, won't have to pay no rent.
I'll do it all for nothing, For I won't take a cent.
When I grow up I wanna be, a lady President.

Now I know I'm just a kid, with lots of crazy dreams.
I may never be a movie star, or a lovely beauty queen.
But one thing is for certain, I think you will agree.
It's a world of opportunity for someone just like, ME.